Troy Man Returns Home.

Sergeant William E. Robbins of "C" company, 105th United States infantry is at his home, 614 Fifth avenue, North Troy. His right arm was shattered by a machine gun bullet. He was wounded while trying to rescue a comrade from the man's hand. The wounded comrade fell wounded some distance in front of the first line trench. He tried to crawl back, but became exhausted before reaching the trench. Several attempts to rescue him were made, one resulting in the death of a British soldier.

During the operations against the Hindenburg Line Pvt Rover, with an Officer and three sergeants, occupied an out post position in advance of the line which was attacked by a superior force of the enemy. Pvt Rover assisted in repulsing this attack and in killing ten Germans, capturing five, and driving off the others. The bravery and determination displayed by this group was an inspiration to all who witnessed it.

Sergeant William B. Strack of "H" company, 105th infantry, returned to Amsterdam unexpectedly Tuesday night from an embarkation hospital in Hoboken, where he was sent upon arrival last Saturday on the Baltic. He was wounded October 18 at about the same time Lieutenant James T. Bergen and Corporal Baier were killed in action. He was sent to England for treatment and from there came home. Sergeant Strack served on the Mexican border with "H" company, National Guard unit, then went to Spartanburg and finally overseas with the 105th. He was made sergeant on the battlefield for unusual service in action, and says he is not only proud of his comrades but glad he is a member of "H" company and the Twenty-seventh division. He was given a cordial greeting at the home of his mother, Mrs. John Busch, 50 Bayard Street, and later there was a family gathering in the home of his sister, Mrs. John H. Green, 10 Corey Street. Sergeant Strack last night went to visit his wife's folks in Schenectady before leaving this morning for New York to obtain his discharge.
